ADG worked closely with Pindan during their bidding for the project and provided a new scheme resulting in large savings of a number of vertical elements, transfers, reinforcement quantities and the overall volume of concrete. ADG then coordinated with the Architects to ensure the scheme conformed to the original Architectural intent.

ADG were also responsible for the detailed design of the post tensioned slabs for Tensioned Concrete. This arrangement minimised the amount of coordination required between consultants and streamlined the design process.

The project was modelled and documented in Revit enabling accurate coordination and clash detection for architectural, structural and building services disciplines.
